SELECTED RISK CONSIDERATIONS

The following highlights some, but not all, of the risk considerations relevant to investing in the Notes. The following must be read in conjunction with the sections Risk Factors beginning on pages S-3 and PS-10, respectively, in the Prospectus Supplement and Pricing Supplement. Defined terms not defined herein shall have the same meaning as in the Prospectus Supplement and Pricing Supplement.

Suitability of Notes for investment A person should reach a decision to invest in the Notes after carefully considering, with his or her advisors, the suitability of the Notes in light of his or her investment objectives and the information set out in the Pricing Supplement. Neither the Issuer nor any dealer participating in the offering makes any recommendation as to the suitability of the Notes for investment.

No current income We will not pay any interest on the Notes. The yield on the Notes therefore may be less than the overall return you would earn if you purchased a conventional debt security at the same time and with the same maturity.

Secondary market Although the Notes will be listed on the American Stock Exchange, there is no assurance that an active secondary trading market will develop. Bear, Stearns & Co. Inc. intends under ordinary market conditions to indicate prices for the Notes on request. However, there can be no guarantee that bids for outstanding Notes will be made in the future; nor can the prices of any such bids be predicted.

Possible loss of value in the secondary market Your principal investment in the Notes is protected only if you hold your Notes to maturity. If you sell your Notes prior to the Maturity Date, you may receive less, and possibly significantly less, than the amount you originally invested.

No dividend or other payments You will not receive any dividend payments or other distributions on the stocks underlying the Basket; nor will such payments be included in the calculation of the Cash Settlement Value you will receive at maturity.

Taxes The U.S. federal income tax consequences of an investment in the Notes are complex and uncertain. We intend to treat the Notes for all tax purposes as pre-paid cash-settled executory contracts linked to the value of the Basket and, where required, to file information returns with the Internal Revenue Service in accordance with such treatment. Prospective investors are urged to consult their tax advisors regarding the U.S. federal income tax consequences of an investment in the Notes. Assuming the Notes are treated as pre-paid cash-settled executory contracts, you should be required to recognize capital gain or loss to the extent that the cash you receive on the Maturity Date or upon a sale or exchange of the Notes prior to the Maturity Date differs from your tax basis on the Notes (which will generally be the amount you paid for the Notes).

The Notes are subject to equity market risks Equity securities are susceptible to general equity market fluctuations and to volatile increases and decreases in value.

Losses in one Component could eliminate or reduce gains in other Components The Components may not move in tandem and increases in one or more Components may be offset by decreases in one or more other Components.

Potential disruptions in the international markets Certain of the Components include securities issued by international companies. The international securities markets may be affected by market disruptions that could cause the prices and performance of the securities underlying such a Component to be adversely affected and affect the calculations of the Component Level.

Certain ERISA Considerations The purchase of Notes with assets of an employee benefit plan or similar arrangement may be subject to complex rules and regulations governing the investment of such assets. Prospective investors are urged to consult with their own advisors and review the discussion under Certain ERISA Considerations in the Pricing Supplement regarding the consequences under the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended, the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended and any other applicable law with respect to the investment in the Notes with the assets of an employee benefit plan or similar arrangement.
