Item 8.01 Other Events

In advance of management's routine meetings with investors which occur from time to time, Lincoln Educational Services Corporation (the "Company") has updated its previously issued guidance for 2018 as a result of its decision to cease operations, effective December 31, 2018, of the Lincoln College of New England ("LCNE") campus at Southington, Connecticut. LCNE results which were originally reported in the Healthcare and Other Professions segment will now be included in the Transitional segment as of September 30, 2018. Current 2018 guidance is as follows:

- Management continues to expect that student starts for 2018 will increase by low single digits compared to the prior year excluding the Transitional segment;
- Management continues to expect revenue to increase by low single digits, compared to the prior year excluding the Transitional segment;
- Management continues to expect year-end population to be greater than that of the prior year excluding the Transitional segment;
- Management now expects operating income for 2018 to range between $2.0 million and breakeven excluding the Transitional segment;
- Management expects savings realized from the closure to enhance the prospects of achieving profitability in 2019.

The August 20, 2018 decision to close the campus follows the previously reported placement of LCNE on probation by the college's institutional accreditor, the New England Association of Schools and Colleges ("NEASC"). After evaluating alternative options, it was concluded that ceasing the campus operations was in the best interest of the organization and its students. Subsequent to formalizing the LCNE closure decision, the Company partnered with Goodwin College, another NEASC-accredited institution in the region, to assist students to complete their programs of study. The majority of the LCNE students will continue their education at Goodwin College thereby limiting some of the Company's closing costs.

The revenue, net loss and ending population of LCNE, as of December 31, 2017, were $8.4 million, $1.6 million, and 397 students, respectively. The Company expects to record costs associated with the closure in 2018 in the range of $3.5 million to $4.5 million, including $2 million in connection with the termination of the LCNE campus lease which will be paid in equal monthly installments through January 2020 and approximately $700,000 of severance payments.

The Company expects to complete the teach-out and exit the LCNE campus by December 31, 2018. As a result, the Company does not anticipate any operating statement impact in 2019 in connection with the LCNE campus.
