- 1. A press release from Pearson plc announcing Pearson acquires Promissor

23 January 2006

Pearson extends global leadership in professional testing:

Edgar Filing: PEARSON PLC - Form 6-K

acquires Promissor from Houghton Mifflin

Pearson, the international media and education company, today announced the acquisition of Promissor, a leading professional testing business, from Houghton Mifflin Company for $42m in cash.

Promissor is a leading provider of licensing examinations for state and federal regulatory bodies in the US. It has a wide range of contracts to assess and certify professionals in the real estate, insurance, mortgage broking, contracting, employment and healthcare industries. Promissor also has a growing presence in the UK, with educational contracts for organisations including City and Guilds, the UK's largest vocational awarding body. Promissor is based in Philadelphia, Chicago and London and operates a company owned network of 130 test centres in the U.S.

Pearson will combine Promissor with Pearson VUE, its existing professional testing company. The transaction brings together two leading players in the worldwide professional testing industry, currently testing and certifying more than three and a half million people every year. Pearson expects the acquisition to enhance adjusted earnings per share and return on invested capital from 2007, its first full year, and to be earnings neutral in 2006*.

Pearson VUE's President and General Manager, Robert Whelan said: "Promissor's market position was earned and maintained through a commitment to quality and outstanding service that is shared by Pearson VUE. The two businesses are a natural fit and we believe that our combined scale and capabilities will realize tremendous benefits for our customers."

Pearson VUE, a leader in computer-based professional testing, operates through a network of some 4,000 test centres across 145 countries of which more than 400 are Pearson-owned and operated. Pearson VUE has grown rapidly in recent years, winning major long-term testing contracts for customers including the National Council of State Boards of Nursing, the National Association of Securities Dealers and the Graduate Management Admissions Council all in the United States as well as the Driving Standards Agency in the United Kingdom and the Driver and Vehicle Testing Agency in Northern Ireland. Pearson VUE's sales grew by more than 30% in 2004, and grew in double digits again in 2005.

* Note: Adjusted earnings per share and ROIC are stated before amortisation of intangible assets.

IFRS3 requires that intangible assets other than goodwill (e.g. intellectual property, customer lists) are 'fair valued' at the point of acquisition and amortised through the P&L (with no cash impact) over their estimated useful lives.
