Asset Quality Considerations

Over the last five quarters, CFBK has reduced its non-performing assets by more than 40%, or $6.3 million

Fresh capital should help accelerate the workout process

Because of the Company's present situation, lending has largely been curtailed and the existing loan portfolio is well seasoned

There is an opportunity to further improve asset quality ratios simply by addressing pent up loan demand and reallocating excess liquidity

Public Backlash Against Big Banks

Management believes:

The financial crisis has caused a severe backlash against the country's Too Big To Fail banks.

There has been a significant deterioration of the public's, investors and regulators perception of these institutions.

Both business and retail customers have experienced deteriorating service levels, long decision periods and high uncertainty in dealing with the larger banks.

As a result, many Americans have called for a return to smaller community banks through protests and organized events such as the National Bank Transfer Day.

Too Big To Fail List

Favorable Economic Trends

Ohio has posted the fourth largest increase in jobs of all 50 states, on a year-over-year basis from May 2011, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics

Since May 2011, Ohio has added 75,700 jobs, trailing only Texas, New York and California.

All of CFBank's markets have witnessed a notable decline in the unemployment rate over the last year:

In the East Liverpool-Salem MSA, the improving manufacturing base and increased investment in the

Utica

Shale

region

have caused

the unemployment

rate

to decrease

from

10.0%

to

8.3%

year-

over-year, nearly two times greater than the year-over-year rate of decline of the national unemployment rate.

The Akron MSA's diverse economic base has also led to relatively strong job growth. Akron's unemployment

declined

from

8.4%

to

7.0%

year-over-year,

a

stronger

decline

than

occurred statewide and nationally.

The Columbus MSA's unemployment rate has been consistently lower than the state and national averages throughout the recession. In April, the Columbus MSA's unemployment rate was significantly

better than

state

and national

figures.

CFBank's Columbiana County branches are located in and serve communities that are deeply impacted by the development of the Utica Shale formation in Eastern Ohio

By 2015, Ohio's natural gas and crude oil industries are expected to generate more than $34 billion in exploration and development, midstream, royalty and lease expenditures

It is estimated that approximately 2,800 new wells will be drilled and completed by 2015, leading to the creation of more than 200,000 new jobs and $12 billion in annual salaries and personal income to Ohioans
