Commission File No.: 001-33631

The following communication was made to employees of Inergy, L.P. and Inergy Midstream, L.P.

I am writing to share with you some exciting news about our company. This morning we announced that Inergy has signed a definitive merger agreement with Crestwood, a growth-oriented master limited partnership, to create a fully integrated partnership that is uniquely positioned across the midstream value chain. The combined company will have a total enterprise value of more than $7 billion, giving us a stronger growth profile, attractive operational and financial synergies, and a highly diversified asset portfolio. A copy of the press release we issued this morning with Crestwood is attached.

Inergy and Crestwood are a natural fit. As some of you know, Crestwood Midstream Partners LP, which is based in Houston, is focused on providing midstream infrastructure solutions for the future development of North American shale and unconventional resource basins. Crestwood's operations include natural gas gathering, processing, treating, and compression services for natural gas and natural gas liquids. In addition to operating in the Marcellus Shale, Crestwood operates in the Barnett, Fayetteville, Granite Wash, Avalon/Bone Spring, and Haynesville/Bossier shales and also has a new focus on the Niobrara, Utica, and Permian areas.

The new combined company will be a formidable competitor in the midstream sector. Our enhanced scale and financial stability will allow us to compete for major midstream infrastructure acquisition and development opportunities. Additionally, our expanded customer base and enhanced service offering will provide stable cash flows and a solid financial and operational platform. In short, Crestwood is the right partner at the right time in Inergy's history; and we are excited about the opportunities for our company's future growth.

Leadership of this enterprise will be in good hands. I have long respected Robert Phillips, who is currently Chairman, President, and CEO of Crestwood; and Bob will become CEO of the new company. Bob has a long track record of running successful MLPs including Enterprise Products Partners and GulfTerra Energy, and he is very excited about this new partnership. Although I will step down from day-to-day management, I will join the Board of Directors of the new company.

This combination is about adding size, scale, and diversity to continue growing in the highly competitive midstream industry. We expect to complete the entire transaction in the third quarter of 2013 following regulatory reviews, unitholder approvals, and the satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. In the interim, we expect it to remain business as usual at Inergy. We ask you to stay focused on serving your customers and managing your operations.

We understand that you may have questions about this transaction. To help answer those questions and provide more details, we will host a meeting at 10:00 a.m. today for all Kansas City employees. Following that, should you have further questions, be sure to ask your manager, as he/she will be provided with additional information as it becomes available.

Finally, this announcement will likely generate interest in our company from the media and other third parties, and it is important for Inergy and Crestwood to speak with one voice. Consistent with our policy, if you receive any inquiries from the investment community, please direct them to Vince Grisell at 816-842-8181 or vgrisell@inergyservices.com. For questions from the media, please direct them to Debbie Hagen at 913-642-6363 or via email at dhagen@inergyservices.com.

On behalf of the Inergy management team, thank you for your ongoing dedication and hard work. It has been my sincere pleasure to work with all of you. This transaction is a testament to the exceptional caliber of our team, making us the successful company we are today. We are excited to embark on this new stage of growth.

We are committed to keeping you informed about our progress and the success that lies ahead.

John J. Sherman

Chairman and CEO
