ITEM 8.01. OTHER EVENTS

On April 1, 2013, we entered into a collaborative development agreement with Micron Technology, Inc. (“Micron”) (the “Micron CDP”) to develop and improve certain advanced memory products. The Micron CDP has two development programs, one in the field of DRAM and the other in the field of Non-Volatile Memory (“NVM”). Micron recently informed the Company that it will not continue with the NVM portion of the Micron CDP effective April 1, 2015. However, the Micron CDP remains in effect and the DRAM program remains active. The terms of the ownership of the technology created under the NVM program and licenses under any intellectual property rights resulting from such technology remain unchanged, and any obligation of Micron to pay success fees for the NVM development program may continue after the end of the NVM program.

The foregoing description of the Micron CDP does not purport to be complete and is qualified in its entirety by reference to the agreement filed as an exhibit to our Form 10-Q filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission on August 7, 2013.
