ITEM 5. OTHER EVENTS

Effective June 16, 2003, General Motors Acceptance Corporation (GMAC) renewed its syndicated credit facilities, including the liquidity facility for GMAC's asset-backed commercial paper conduit, NCAT. These facilities provide GMAC "back-up" liquidity and represent additional sources of funding. The following summarizes the modifications to the facilities, which are more fully described in GMAC's Annual Report on Form 10-K:

364-Day Facility - The facility was increased from $1.543 billion to $4.15 billion, expiring June 14, 2004. The facility continues to include a term loan option, which, if exercised by GMAC upon expiration, carries a one-year term. The facility also provides GMAC the discretionary option to transfer up to $2.9 billion of the $4.15 billion total commitment to the NCAT liquidity facility. The 364-day facility contains a leverage covenant that restricts the ratio of GMAC's consolidated debt to total stockholder's equity to no greater than 11:1. In connection with the renewal, the leverage covenant calculation was modified to exclude from debt those securitization transactions that are accounted for on-balance sheet.

5-Year Facility - The 5-year facility was decreased from $7.35 billion to $4.35 billion, and extended two years, expiring June 16, 2008. This facility is also subject to the aforementioned leverage covenant.

NCAT Liquidity Facility - GMAC is the administrator for New Center Asset Trust (NCAT), a non-consolidated asset-backed commercial paper conduit. The NCAT liquidity facility was increased from $18.107 billion to $19.25 billion, expiring June 14, 2004.
