Cadence Design Systems, Inc. ( Cadence ) is unable to file its Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the quarter ended September 27, 2008 (the Form 10-Q ) within the prescribed time period because Cadence could not complete the preparation of the required information without unreasonable effort and expense.

The delay in the filing of the Form 10-Q is related to the investigation being conducted by the audit committee and disclosed in Cadence's Current Report on Form 8-K dated October 27, 2008.

Cadence is delaying the filing of the Form 10-Q until the investigation is completed. Cadence will file the Form 10-Q as soon as practicable.

The statements contained in this filing regarding the timing of the filing of the Form 10-Q, the expected financial results of operations of the third quarter of 2008 and the previously-announced investigation include forward-looking statements based on current expectations or beliefs, as well as a number of preliminary assumptions about future events that are subject to factors and uncertainties that could cause actual results to differ materially from those described in the forward-looking statements. Readers are cautioned not to put undue reliance on these forward-looking statements, which are not a guarantee of future performance and are subject to a number of risks, uncertainties and other factors, many of which are outside Cadence's control, including but not limited to: (i) Cadence's ability to compete successfully in the electronic design automation product and the commercial electronic design and methodology services industries; (ii) Cadence's ability to successfully complete and realize the expected benefits of the previously-announced restructuring without significant unexpected costs or delays; (iii) the mix of products and services sold and the timing of significant orders for its products, and its shift to a ratable license structure may result in changes in the mix of license types; (iv) change in customer demands, including the possibility that the previously-announced restructuring and management changes could result in delays in customers' purchases of products and services; (v) economic and industry conditions in regions in which Cadence does business; (vi) fluctuations in rates of exchange between the U.S. dollar and the currencies of other countries in which Cadence does business; (vii) capital expenditure requirements; legislative or regulatory requirements; interest rates and Cadence's ability to access capital and debt markets; (viii) the acquisition of other companies or technologies or the failure to successfully integrate and operate these companies or technologies Cadence acquires; (ix) the effects of the previously-announced restructuring and management changes on Cadence's business, including its strategic and customer relationships, ability to retain key employees and stock prices; (x) the outcome of the previously-announced investigation being conducted by the audit committee; (xi) the effects of any litigation or other proceedings to which Cadence is or may become a party; and (xii) the effect of any goodwill impairment analyses Cadence may perform in the future.

For a detailed discussion of these and other cautionary statements, please refer to Cadence's filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission, including Cadence's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 29, 2007 and the risk factors section in Cadence's Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the quarter ended June 28, 2008.

Edgar Filing: CADENCE DESIGN SYSTEMS INC - Form NT 10-Q

Cadence expects to report third quarter 2008 revenue of approximately $235 million to $245 million, compared to revenue of $400.9 million reported for the same period in 2007. Cadence expects to recognize a GAAP net loss of approximately ($0.67) to ($0.65) per share on a diluted basis in the third quarter of 2008, compared to a GAAP net income of $0.24 per share on a diluted basis in the same period in 2007. The anticipated GAAP net loss per share on a diluted basis is greater than Cadence previously estimated principally because the anticipated number now takes into account the third quarter restructuring charges for Cadence's recently announced restructuring and an increased provision for income tax based on Cadence's repatriation of previously untaxed earnings from foreign subsidiaries. The anticipated results for the third quarter of 2008 as reported in this notification do not include the impact of changes to Cadence's financial statements that may arise from the previously-announced investigation being conducted by the audit committee.
