Inco Exchange

From the desk of Scott Hand,
Inco Chairman and CEO

To Inco employees and your families,

It has been a number of weeks since we announced our offer to acquire Falconbridge. The formal terms of our acquisition offer were mailed to Falconbridge shareholders on October 24. Unless our offer is extended, they have until December 23 to decide whether to tender their shares.

In order for acquisition to proceed, at least two-thirds of all Falconbridge common shares must be tendered.

Independent of shareholder acceptance, the deal must also receive regulatory clearances from authorities in Canada, the United States and the European Union.

You've probably heard a lot about the offer over the past number of weeks. It has been a hot topic of conversation in our workplaces, our communities, within governments and in the media. The feedback I've received from employees, investors, customers and others has been tremendously positive and has strengthened my conviction that the new Inco will be a winner.

Our deal is good news for Canadian mining and is getting a strong endorsement from Canadian labour leaders, community leaders, and governments.

Their message is coming through loud and clear: they believe that this deal is a great opportunity for Inco and Falconbridge and our communities, shareholders, and employees. A sample of what's been said is printed on the back of this letter.

On November 10th, I spoke to the Empire Club of Canada on Canadian competitiveness in the global economy. In my remarks, I talked a lot about the new Inco and what it will mean for the mining industry, for Canada and for our company. I invite you to read it online.

I encourage you to check The Link and our bid website (www.inco.com/newinco) often for updates, announcements, and speeches relating to the offer.

Thanks to those who have called our telephone line at 1-866-203-5138 and emailed us at employeequestions@inco.com with comments and questions. Please continue to do so.

I wish you and your families a warm holiday season and best wishes for the new year.

Sincerely,

Ontario Premier Dalton McGuinty said that the Inco-Falconbridge merger would create an international resource powerhouse and went on to say:

Anytime there's a takeover that is exercised by a foreign company, they just don't have the same kind of commitment that they otherwise would to Ontario and to Canada. But this is taking two domestic companies and I think it's going to make for a perfect marriage.

The Honourable David Emerson, Canadian Minister of Industry commented that:

It is very important for us to have Canadian champion companies and it's important for them to come together in a friendly way to build deep roots right here in Canada ... We need the corporate leadership in Canada. We need the high-quality employment opportunities in Canada. And we need their social contributions here in Canada.

Leo Gerard, a Sudbury native and President of the United Steelworkers of America, said recently:

My sentiment is that the Inco Falconbridge proposal is probably the best deal for Sudbury, for the community of Sudbury, for the steelworkers of Sudbury and for Canada.

Ray Bonin, Canadian Liberal Member of Parliament for the Nickel Belt said:

The people of Sudbury are ecstatic with the friendly takeover of Falconbridge by Inco ... Canada will benefit greatly from this merger.
