LETTER TO THE SHAREHOLDERS

August 15, 2002

Dear Shareholder,

During the last quarter, and through the month of July, equity markets worldwide have been undergoing a major sell-off, led by the US equity market. Concerns of further accounting scandals have added to the pre-existing fears of a slowdown in economic growth, more terrorist actions, problems in the Middle East, and a perception that the US market is still overvalued despite the two-year decline in equity prices. Equity markets are presently focusing on emotions, and not economic fundamentals, which are mainly positive. Investors have turned away from equities and towards other investments such as gold, real estate, and fixed income securities. With the DAX Index trading at 1997's level, the equity valuations in Germany are very attractive given that corporate earnings are at a turning point. In addition, interest rates and inflation are very low, both positive factors for economic growth.

For the six months ended June 30, 2002, the net asset value per share of the Germany Fund declined 6.4% and its share price declined 2.1%. The Fund's benchmark, the DAX Index, declined 5.4% in US dollar terms during the same period. The Fund's 1% underperformance in net asset value terms was attributable mainly to the Fund's restriction to own Deutsche Bank shares and to a smaller extent to the Fund's overweight position in the telecommunication sector during the first quarter of the year. Investors can take some comfort that the German equity market performed much better than the US during the first six months as the S&P 500 fell almost 14%. European equity markets should continue to do better as global investors have turned skeptical with the US market. This is also evidenced by the rally in the Euro that took place during the second quarter. Since reaching its low for the year in February, the Euro has risen over 17% against the US dollar.

The Germany Fund continued its open-market purchases of its shares, buying 106,100 shares during the first six months of the year. The Fund's discount to its net asset value averaged 6.8% during the first six months, the same as last year.

Sincerely,

/s/ CHRISTIAN STRENGER

INTERVIEW WITH THE CHIEF INVESTMENT OFFICER

QUESTION: What impact will the upcoming elections in Germany have on its equity markets?

ANSWER: On September 22nd, Germany will hold elections that will decide its next chancellor. At the present time, the election is too close to predict a winner, but opinion polls give a slight edge to Edmund Stoiber, the leader of the German conservative coalition. If Stoiber does defeat the current chancellor, Gerhard Schroeder, it will complete a shift from the left to the right on the political spectrum that has taken place across Europe over the past few years. Over the past two years, parties of the political right have won victories in France, Austria, Italy, Spain, Portugal, Denmark and the Netherlands. A victory for the conservative party could be significant as it could set the stage for an aggressive program of structural and tax reform. Stoiber has promised to reduce the top marginal tax rate to 40% from 48% and reduce the level of social welfare taxes. While he has also stated that he wants to reverse one of the achievements of the current government by reintroducing the capital gains tax on the sale of corporate cross-shareholdings, it has prompted companies to speed up their plans to unwind their positions knowing that the tax advantage may not be there in the future. Furthermore, Stoiber wants to replace it with a reduction in the corporate tax rate that benefits smaller companies, as well as the large multinationals. In a poll of 531 business managers, 68% expected Stoiber to defeat the ruling Social Democratic

Edgar Filing: NEW GERMANY FUND INC - Form N-30D

Party, and 67% also said they preferred a Stoiber victory.

QUESTION: What are your views on the major industries the Fund has invested in?

ANSWER: After the strong sell-off in equity prices over the past two and one-half years, we think there is now value in some parts of the technology sector. For example, Nokia is trading at valuations that imply the company is no longer growing. We believe this is not the case and have taken a position in the company. In other areas of technology, such as the telecom operators, we maintain an underweight. The Fund plans to maintain an underweight position in the banking sector due to deteriorating credit quality and loan exposures to WorldCom and other big potential bankruptcies. The share prices of the large-cap German insurance companies have suffered in part due to the MSCI and DAX free float adjustment. The insurance sector now trades at 1.3 times embedded value and we have used share price weakness in Allianz and Munich Re to increase this sector to an overweight position. For now, the Fund plans to maintain a neutral position in the pharmaceutical sector. Pharmaceutical companies have been substantially de-rated as the well known problems of patent expirations, generic competition and poor product pipelines should continue to be a dark cloud hanging of the sector. As we believe that an economic recovery is at hand, we maintain an overweight position in the consumer goods and retail sector. Similarly, the automotive sector is at valuations that are not far above the lows seen in 1993. This suggests that a lot of bad news is discounted and we have thus increased the sector to an overweight.

QUESTION: Now that Germany has made progress with tax and pension reforms, will labor market reforms be next?

ANSWER: Lowering unemployment has been the central issue in this year's election, and we believe that Germany is now serious about reforming the structural impediments to job creation. The main obstacle to employment growth in Germany is the excessive regulation of the labor market, namely the protection against dismissal. Companies do not have the ability to respond to economic cycles with flexible and affordable adjustments to work contracts. As a result, companies are reluctant to hire new staff in the first place. There are also laws limiting the right to hire part-time workers. Now however, there are signs that things may be changing. This past spring, the government has developed a package of proposals for labor market reforms. The centerpiece of the reform package is the creation of federal temporary employment agencies that will be added to the local branches of the Federal Labor Office. Under this new model, job-seekers are placed on the payroll of the Personal Service Agencies (PSA), which will hire them out to companies for limited periods. Those unemployed who are not willing to work with the PSA would see their unemployment benefits cut after six months. The aim is to double the number of temporary workers within three years. Furthermore, measures will be taken to increase the pressures on the unemployed to take a job. The rules for what constitutes a job that the unemployed can be expected to accept with regards to pay and commuting distance are to be made more aggressive. In our analysis, the government's proposals are a step in the right direction and could certainly reduce unemployment significantly.

OUTLOOK FOR THE GERMAN ECONOMY

While the world economy is clearly on the road to recovery, the upturn remains shaky and regional developments differ. Growth in the US recently lost steam, but should pickup speed again in the third quarter, while Japan is still far away from a sustained upturn. Europe, however, is in a good position to experience an expansion led by domestic demand. In Germany, economic growth got off to a subdued start in 2002. The beginning of the year was characterized by another strong rundown in inventories, which should lead to an expansion in manufacturing activity in the second half of the year. However, the reduction in inventories was nearly compensated by a considerable contribution to growth from net exports. Growth looks to be slightly positive in the second quarter, but should accelerate sharply in the second half of the year, growing at a rate of about 4% in the fourth quarter. Private consumption is likely to become one of the main pillars of GDP growth in the course of the year. The assumption is supported by a rise in real disposable income of 2%. In addition to recent declines in German consumer prices, wage agreements reached earlier in the year with Germany's largest labor union led to a larger than expected increase in real income. Despite that, inflation data has developed favorably in the last few months, helped by a marked decline in food prices. In July, the inflation rate decreased to 1% from 2.1% at the beginning of the year.

NOTE 1. ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The Germany Fund, Inc. (the "Fund") was incorporated in Delaware on April 8, 1986 as a diversified, closed-end management investment company. Investment operations commenced on July 23, 1986. Pursuant to shareholder approvals, the Fund reincorporated in Maryland on August 29, 1990 and on October 16, 1996 the Fund changed from a diversified to a non-diversified company.

The following is a summary of significant accounting policies followed by the Fund in the preparation of its financial statements. The preparation of financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

SECURITY VALUATION: Investments are stated at value. All securities for which market quotations are readily available are valued at the last sales price on the primary exchange on which they are traded prior to the time of valuation. If no sales price is available at that time, and both bid and ask prices are available, the securities are valued at the mean between the last current bid and ask prices; if no quoted asked prices are available, they are valued at the last quoted bid price. All securities for which market quotations are not readily available will be valued as determined in good faith by the Board of Directors of the Fund.

SECURITIES TRANSACTIONS AND INVESTMENT INCOME: Securities transactions are recorded on the trade date. Cost of securities sold is calculated using the identified cost method. Dividend income is recorded on the ex-dividend date and interest income is recorded on an accrual basis. Such dividend income is recorded net of unrecoverable foreign withholding tax.

LOANS OF PORTFOLIO SECURITIES: The Fund may lend portfolio securities while it continues to earn dividends on such securities loaned. The market value of government securities received as collateral is required to be at least equal to 105 percent of the market value of the securities loaned, which are marked-to-market daily. Securities lending fees, net of rebates and agency fees, are earned by the Fund and are identified separately in the Statement of Operations.

FOREIGN CURRENCY TRANSLATION: The books and records of the Fund are maintained in United States dollars. Assets and liabilities denominated in euros and other foreign currency amounts are translated into United States dollars at the 10:00 A.M. mid-point of the buying and selling spot rates quoted by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. Purchases and sales of investment securities, income and expenses are reported at the rate of exchange prevailing on the respective dates of such transactions. The resultant gains and losses arising from exchange rate fluctuations are identified separately in the Statement of Operations, except for such amounts attributable to investments which are included in net realized and unrealized gains and losses on investments.

Foreign investments may involve certain considerations and risks not typically associated with those of domestic origin as a result of, among others, the possibility of political and economic developments and the level of governmental supervision and regulation of foreign securities markets.

TAXES: No provision has been made for United States Federal income tax because the Fund intends to meet the requirements of the United States Internal Revenue Code applicable to regulated investment companies and to distribute all of its taxable income to shareholders.

DIVIDENDS AND DISTRIBUTIONS TO SHAREHOLDERS: The Fund records dividends and distributions to its shareholders on the ex-dividend date. Income and capital gain distributions are determined in accordance with Federal income tax regulations which may differ from accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. These differences, which could be temporary or permanent in nature, may result in reclassification of distributions; however, net investment income, net realized gains and net assets are not affected.

NOTE 2. MANAGEMENT AND INVESTMENT ADVISORY AGREEMENTS

The Fund has a Management Agreement with Deutsche Bank Securities Inc. (the "Manager"), and an Investment Advisory Agreement with Deutsche Asset Management International GmbH (the "Investment Adviser"). The Manager and the Investment Adviser are affiliated companies.

Edgar Filing: NEW GERMANY FUND INC - Form N-30D

The Management Agreement provides the Manager with a fee, computed weekly and payable monthly, at the annual rates of .65% of the Fund's average weekly net assets up to $50 million, and .55% of such assets in excess of $50 million. The Investment Advisory Agreement provides the Investment Adviser with a fee, computed weekly and payable monthly, at the annual rates of .35% of the Fund's average weekly net assets up to $100 million and .25% of such assets in excess of $100 million.

Pursuant to the Management Agreement, the Manager is the corporate manager and administrator of the Fund and, subject to the supervision of the Board of Directors and pursuant to recommendations made by the Fund's Investment Adviser, determines the suitable securities for investment by the Fund. The Manager also provides office facilities and certain administrative, clerical and bookkeeping services for the Fund. Pursuant to the Investment Advisory Agreement, the Investment Adviser, in accordance with the Fund's stated investment objectives, policies and restrictions, makes recommendations to the Manager with respect to the Fund's investments and, upon instructions given by the Manager as to suitable securities for investment by the Fund, transmits purchase and sale orders, and selects brokers and dealers to execute portfolio transactions on behalf of the Fund.

NOTE 3. TRANSACTIONS WITH AFFILIATES

For the six months ended June 30, 2002, Deutsche Bank AG, the German parent of the Manager and Investment Adviser, and its affiliates received $46,361 in brokerage commissions as a result of executing agency transactions in portfolio securities on behalf of the Fund.

Certain officers of the Fund are also officers of either the Manager or Deutsche Bank AG.

NOTE 4. PORTFOLIO SECURITIES

For United States Federal income tax purposes, the Fund had a capital loss carry forward at December 31, 2001 of approximately $26.5 million which will expire in 2009. No capital gains distribution is expected to be paid to shareholders until future net gains have been realized in excess of such carry forward.

NOTE 5. PORTFOLIO SECURITIES LOANED

At June 30, 2002, the market values of the securities loaned and government securities received as collateral for such loans were $11,220,513 and $11,835,416, respectively. The weighted average discount of these purchases comparing the purchase price to the net asset value at the time of purchase was 9.2% and 9.6%, respectively.

++ Total investment return is calculated assuming that shares of the Fund's common stock were purchased at the closing market price as of the beginning of the period, dividends, capital gains and other distributions were reinvested as provided for in the Fund's dividend reinvestment plan and then sold at the closing market price per share on the last day of the period. The computation does not reflect any sales commission investors may incur in purchasing or selling shares of the Fund. The total investment return based on the net asset value is similarly computed except that the Fund's net asset value is substituted for the closing market price.

* The custody credits are attributable to interest earned on U.S. cash balances. The ratio of total expenses after custody credits to average net assets would have been 1.58%, 1.46%, 1.27%, 1.25%, 1.15% and 1.19% for 2002, 2001, 2000, 1999, 1998 and 1997, respectively.

THE NON-FUNDAMENTAL POLICY
(unaudited)

The Board of Directors adopted the following nonfundamental policy for the Fund at its April 26, 2002 meeting:

1. The Fund will invest, under normal circumstances, at least 80% of the value of its net assets (plus 80% of any borrowings made for investment purposes) in securities of issuers domiciled in Germany;
2. For this purpose, an issuer is "domiciled" in Germany if
 - (a) It is organized under the laws of Germany,
 - (b) It maintains its principal place of business in Germany,
 - (c) It derives 50% or more of its annual revenues or profits from goods produced or sold, investments made or services performed in Germany, as determined in good faith by the Manager,
 - (d) It has 50% or more of its assets in Germany, as determined in good faith by the Manager, or
 - (e) Its equity securities are traded principally in Germany.

If an issuer could be considered domiciled in more than one country under the above criteria, the Manager shall determine the appropriate domicile in the issuer's circumstances based on the predominant criterion or criteria.

3. The Fund will provide its shareholders with at least 60 days' prior notice of any change in the above policy.

The effective date of the above non-fundamental policy is July 31, 2002.
