LETTER TO THE SHAREHOLDERS

August 25, 2003

Dear Shareholder,

The German equity market staged a major rebound from its low point reached on March 12, 2003. Stock market sentiment has substantially improved due to reduced uncertainties related to the Iraq war and investors are refocusing once more on fundamentals, such as valuations and growth. Another important factor has been Chancellor Schroeder's proposed reform program, the so-called "Agenda 2010". Its most important aim is to increase the German economy's competitiveness and thus reduce unemployment. Additionally, the German government announced its intention to bring forward major income tax cuts to stimulate consumption. Finally, the European Central Bank continued its easy monetary policy stance by reducing its benchmark rate to 2%.

For the six months ended June 30, 2003, the net asset value per share of the New Germany Fund increased 36.9% and its share price increased 38.9%, while the Fund's benchmark, the Midcap Market Performance Index, increased by 29.0% in US dollar terms during the same period. Second quarter returns were exceptionally strong with the Fund's net asset value up by 34.5%, its share price up 39.3% and the Mid Cap Market Index up 35.0%.

As in previous quarters, performance of the New Germany Fund was driven by stock selection and company-specific news flow. During the second quarter the Fund sold its entire holding in Wella after P&G took a controlling stake in the company. In the financial sector, positions in the banking and insurance sectors were increased due to favorable valuations and the fact that the European Central Bank signaled its willingness to further cut interest rates. Buying positions in EADS, MG Technologies and Rheinmetall increased the Fund's exposure to the machinery and industrial sectors. Rheinmetall is expected to benefit from a restructuring program while MG Technologies trades at a significant discount to its sum-of-the-parts valuation. We are basing our EADS position on expected profit from strong order flows and revenue growth as some of the key defense programs move into production. Overall the midcap segment still enjoys a valuation advantage over the large-cap segment and forward P/E's of 12 times for 2004 still seem reasonable.

The New Germany Fund continued its open-market purchases of its shares, buying 274,900 shares during the first six months of 2003. The Fund's discount to its net asset value averaged 20.9% during this period.

Sincerely,

/S/Christian Strenger

INTERVIEW WITH THE CHIEF INVESTMENT OFFICER

QUESTION: What makes you think that the "Agenda 2010" reform package will actually go through in its entirety, without being diluted by special interest groups?

ANSWER: "Reform" has certainly become one of the most cliched words in Germany today. In view of lame growth, stubbornly rising unemployment and a social security system beset with major financing problems, there is broad consensus about the fact that something has to change. The "Agenda 2010" is certainly not a concept that will solve Germany's structural problems once and for all, but it represents a major turn around from the vantage point of the left-wing party base and parts of the trade unions. Mr. Schroeder has linked his political fate to the Agenda, and it seems that he has gained the upper hand in his own party. The proposed reform package received the blessing of around 90% of the delegates at the Social Democratic Party's extraordinary party congress in Berlin on June 1st after a fierce debate and some concessions regarding transition periods for unemployment payments and the special situation of Eastern Germany. Interestingly, the opposition has already signaled that it might support Mr. Schroeder's reform package, as long as the key issues are not watered down and reform continues.

QUESTION: Assuming the reform is on track, what are some of the key proposals in Chancellor Schroeder's proposed reform program and how would it benefit the German economy?

ANSWER: The core of the reform measures is that the state healthcare system will no longer pay for certain benefits, and going forward it will have to be financed either by the beneficiaries themselves or by the taxpayer. Higher extra payments for drugs and visits to the doctor and measures to increase competition among medical providers and pharmacies should lead to a reduction in healthcare expenditures. It is estimated that the overall cost to the healthcare system could be reduced by about Euro 20 bn, which is equivalent to about 2% of the total contributions to the state healthcare system. Currently, contribution rates average around 14.3%, and paid in equal parts by employers and employees. Therefore employers would benefit most, as their non-wage labor costs would decline in line with the cut. In addition to health care reform, the proposal includes a provision for labor market and old-age pension reform. The labor market reform includes a major cut in unemployment benefits in order to increase the incentive to find a job and to bring financial relief to the unemployment system. Old age pensions are expected to be cut due to demographic developments and a higher life expectancy.

QUESTION: What about the tax cuts? This seems to be last year's story. What is new and how will the economy benefit?

ANSWER: The government decided to bring forward the third stage of the tax reform by one year, from 2003 to January 2004. The government estimates that the additional relief for households would come to about Euro 15 bn, and together with the second stage of the tax reform would be equal to about Euro 22 bn. This step is expected to be financed by higher borrowings, more radical cuts in tax subsidies for commuters and homeowners as well as privatization revenues. Overall, this step would improve business and consumer sentiment, and is expected to give some additional impulses to growth this and next year. Assuming that the savings ratio will rise only slightly it is expected to add about .3% to next year's GDP growth.

QUESTION: Wouldn't this tax cut jeopardize the already high budget deficit in Germany and with that exceed the 3% Maastricht deficit ceiling?

ANSWER: Yes, it is likely that Germany's 2004 deficit will exceed the Maastricht limit for the third time in a row. However, this is not necessarily the governments' view. So far, if we can believe Finance Minister Eichel, he seems to be confident, that the Maastricht deficit will be back below the 3% ceiling in 2004, provided that the economy grows by 2% next year.

REPORT FROM THE INVESTMENT ADVISER AND MANAGER

OUTLOOK FOR THE GERMAN ECONOMY

Recent news flow confirms that the German economy is at the beginning of a rebound. One common indicator for business sentiment is the Ifo index, which increased in July from 88.8 to 89.2 and was solely driven by the business expectations component, which advanced for the third time in a row from 98.6 to 100.2. Another positive signal was received from the German labor market, as the number of unemployed fell by 33,000 in June after falling by 10,000 in May. These numbers were contrary to market expectations, and were enough to lower the unemployment rate for the first time in two years from 10.7% to 10.6%. Our assumption is that economic growth should also receive a boost from the pending tax reform and the low interest rate environment. The outlook on inflation remains good with July's inflation number falling to .9% year on year.

The European Central Bank ("ECB") kept interest rates on hold in July and sent a neutral message to the market with regards to future interest rate cuts. However, with the refinancing rate at a low 2%, the ECB kept its monetary policy easy enough to stimulate the Western European economies. Market participants still expect another interest rate cut, which seems rather unlikely in the near term. Especially, as the ECB is going through its yearly routine of handing over its presidency and will therefore need the subsequent months to prepare the 2004 budgets. This could delay a potential interest rate cut until December 4th. However, key risks to such an expectation include a more powerful recovery of the European economy and a weaker Euro.

The Euro exchange rate has topped out at around 1.19 against the US$ at the end of May after strengthening more than 29% from a year and a half ago. This pause seems normal as Europe's current account surplus is narrowing and investment flows into the Euro area are reversing. Our expectation is that the Euro will strengthen further against the US$, but this appreciation could be delayed if a possible recovery in the US economy gives rise to renewed capital outflows from Euroland.

THE NEW GERMANY FUND, INC.
NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
JUNE 30, 2003 (UNAUDITED)

NOTE 1. ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Edgar Filing: NEW GERMANY FUND INC - Form N-CSRS

The New Germany Fund, Inc. (the "Fund") was incorporated in Maryland on January 16, 1990 as a non-diversified, closed-end management investment company. The Fund commenced investment operations on January 30, 1990.

The following is a summary of significant accounting policies followed by the Fund in the preparation of its financial statements. The preparation of financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

SECURITY VALUATION: Investments are stated at value. All securities for which market quotations are readily available are valued at the last sales price on the primary exchange on which they are traded prior to the time of valuation. If no sales price is available at that time, and both bid and ask prices are available, the securities are valued at the mean between the last current bid and ask prices; if no quoted asked prices are available, they are valued at the last quoted bid price. All securities for which market quotations are not readily available will be valued as determined in good faith by the Board of Directors of the Fund.

SECURITIES TRANSACTIONS AND INVESTMENT INCOME: Securities transactions are recorded on the trade date. Cost of securities sold is calculated using the identified cost method. Dividend income is recorded on the ex-dividend date and interest income is recorded on an accrual basis. Such dividend income is recorded net of unrecoverable foreign withholding tax.

FOREIGN CURRENCY TRANSLATION: The books and records of the Fund are maintained in United States dollars.

Assets and liabilities denominated in euros and other foreign currency amounts are translated into United States dollars at the 10:00 A.M. mid-point of the buying and selling spot rates quoted by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. Purchases and sales of investment securities, income and expenses are reported at the rate of exchange prevailing on the respective dates of such transactions. The resultant gains and losses arising from exchange rate fluctuations are identified separately in the Statement of Operations, except for such amounts attributable to investments which are included in net realized and unrealized gains and losses on investments.

Foreign investments may involve certain considerations and risks not typically associated with those of domestic origin as a result of, among others, the possibility of political and economic developments and the level of governmental supervision and regulation of foreign securities markets.

TAXES: No provision has been made for United States Federal income tax because the Fund intends to meet the requirements of the United States Internal Revenue Code applicable to regulated investment companies and to distribute all of its taxable income to shareholders.

DIVIDENDS AND DISTRIBUTIONS TO SHAREHOLDERS: The Fund records dividends and distributions to its shareholders on the ex-dividend date. Income and capital gain distributions are determined in accordance with United States Federal income tax regulations which may differ from accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. These differences, which could be temporary or permanent in nature, may result in reclassification of distributions; however, net investment income, net realized gains and net assets are not affected.

During the year ended December 31, 2002, the Fund reclassified permanent book and tax differences as follows:

Edgar Filing: NEW GERMANY FUND INC - Form N-CSRS

	INCREASE (DECREASE)
Undistributed net investment income	$749,608
Undistributed net realized gain on investments and foreign currency transactions	(749,608)

NOTE 2. MANAGEMENT AND INVESTMENT ADVISORY AGREEMENTS

The Fund has a Management Agreement with and related undertaking by (collectively, the "Management Agreement") Deutsche Bank Securities Inc. (the "Manager"), and an Investment Advisory Agreement with Deutsche Asset Management International GmbH (the "Investment Adviser"). The Manager and the Investment Adviser are affiliated companies.

The Investment Advisory Agreement provides the Investment Adviser with a fee, computed weekly and payable monthly, at the annual rates of .35% of the Fund's average weekly net assets up to $100 million and .25% of such assets in excess of $100 million.

Pursuant to the Management Agreement, the Manager is the corporate manager and administrator of the Fund and, subject to the supervision of the Board of Directors and pursuant to recommendations made by the Fund's Investment Adviser, determines the suitable securities for investment by the Fund.
