Lake Forest, Illinois (November 20, 2003) CNH Global N.V. (NYSE:CNH) today announced that a wholly owned financial services subsidiary has priced the last of three asset-backed securitization (ABS) transactions totaling $1.7 billion. Yesterday's $260 million Canadian ABS transaction follows a $1.15 billion transaction in the United States completed last Friday and a $290 million transaction completed on November 4th in Australia. All three transactions were oversubscribed; the size of the US offering was increased by more than 50% to accommodate demand. These transactions follow completion of a $1 billion wholesale public term ABS transaction in September 2003.

Separately, Standard and Poor's placed various existing CNH Equipment Trust ABS transactions on credit watch positive on November 13, 2003.

CNH's solid track record in the equipment finance segment of the ABS market has generated strong demand for our securities, CNH chief financial officer Michel Lecomte said. Consistently high portfolio quality has been the key both to the level of demand and the very favorable pricing we have achieved in all our offerings.

In all three transactions, the asset-backed securities were supported by loans made by the company's financial services operations to retail customers. In the Australian transaction, the underlying assets also included finance leases and hire purchase agreements in addition to retail financing agreements.

In September 2003 CNH completed a $1 billion public offer of asset-backed securities supported by loans used to finance dealer inventory. Concurrently, $225 million in asset-backed securities backed by wholesale receivables was placed privately via asset-backed commercial paper conduits. Also in September, CNH placed $320 million in securities backed by variable rate retail receivables via a 144a offering.
