ANNOUNCEMENT

The Board of Directors of the Company announces that the Company has opted not to procure In-Orbit Insurance for AsiaSat 2 in light of the extremely high insurance rates and the very restrictive conditions being imposed.

This announcement is made pursuant to rule 13.09 of the Rules Governing the Listing of Securities on The Stock Exchange of Hong Kong Limited for the purpose of providing information on the Company's decision with respect to the In-Orbit Insurance of AsiaSat 2.

BACKGROUND

AsiaSat 2 was launched on 28 November 1995 and is located in the geostationary orbit at 100.5 degrees East. It is a series 7000 model satellite designed and produced by the satellite manufacturer, Lockheed Martin of the USA. AsiaSat 2 has an estimated design life of 13 years from the date of commissioning, namely January 1996.

As at 28 November 2005, the net book value of AsiaSat 2 stands approximately at US$32 million (equivalent to HK$250 million), which will be amortised over the remaining life period of 38 months.

Historically the Company has insured its satellites for not less than their net book value.

IN-ORBIT INSURANCE

As a result of a number of reported mechanical failures to the Lockheed Martin series 7000 satellites over the past few years, the latest In-Orbit Insurance rates for AsiaSat 2 without exclusions of coverage have increased significantly. Given the present low book value of AsiaSat 2 and the Company's strong cash position, the Directors have determined that not procuring In-Orbit Insurance for AsiaSat 2 would be economically prudent and in the best interest of the Group in light of the extremely high rates and the overly restrictive conditions being imposed.

When satellite operators renew in-orbit insurance for their satellites, they weigh the cost of insurance against the risk of loss and the benefit of insurance. It is not uncommon for satellite operators to determine that it is more cost effective not to procure insurance for part or all of their satellite fleet.

In the event of mechanical failure resulting in a total loss of AsiaSat 2, the Company would incur a loss of HK$250 million, or equal to its net book value at the time the total loss occurs. The Company is presently debt free and has approximately US$193 million (or HK$1,505 million) in cash and cash equivalents.

INVESTORS ARE ADVISED TO EXERCISE CAUTION WHEN DEALING IN THE SECURITIES OF THE COMPANY.
