Mylan Responds to Carl Icahn 's 13D Filing

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 8 /PRNewswire-FirstCall/ Mylan Laboratories Inc. (NYSE: MYL) today stated that Carl Icahn 's current opposition to the proposed acquisition of King Pharmaceuticals, Inc. by Mylan does not affect Mylan 's commitment to complete the transaction in a timely manner under the agreed terms.

In response to Icahn 's 13D filing and other public statements, Robert J. Coury, Mylan 's Vice Chairman and Chief Executive Officer, stated, "It is unfathomable that Mr. Icahn, a Mylan shareholder for little more than one month, could reasonably conclude what is in the best long-term interest for all Mylan shareholders. Mr. Icahn, to our knowledge, has never owned Mylan shares prior to our announcement to acquire King, nor has he ever met with management to discuss its business, the generics industry, or more recently, the benefits of the King transaction.

Mr. Coury added, "Mr. Icahn had already purchased the vast majority of his holdings prior to attempting to contact me by telephone at the end of last week. It was at my suggestion that a face-to-face meeting was arranged for this week.

Mr. Coury further stated, "This conduct leads me to believe that Mr. Icahn has an agenda designed to maximize his gains without regard for the long-term interests of all shareholders.

Mr. Coury continued, "Over the last few weeks, we 've held over 100 institutional investor and major shareholder meetings. Feedback from these meetings has been positive which is reflective, we believe, of a growing appreciation of the compelling logic of the King transaction. We are confident that shareholders will support our board 's and management 's long held and fully articulated strategy of building a well-balanced specialty pharmaceutical company and our ongoing commitment to maximize shareholder value.

Mylan's founder and Chairman of the Board, Milan Puskar, stated, "Mylan has a long history of delivering revenue and earnings growth to its investors. We firmly believe that the King acquisition is a sound strategy to continue to grow long-term shareholder value for both King and Mylan shareholders."
