STELLENT REPORTS THIRD QUARTER FINANCIAL RESULTS

Revenue and earnings per share meet previous company guidance; company generates 20 percent year-over-year revenue growth for the quarter

EDEN PRAIRIE, MN, Jan. 20, 2004 Stellent, Inc. (Nasdaq: STEL), a global provider of content management solutions, announced today its financial results for the third quarter ended Dec. 31, 2003.

Third quarter revenues were $19.2 million, a 4% sequential increase over the $18.5 million reported in the prior quarter and an increase of 20% from the $16.0 million reported for the same period last year. Revenues for the nine-month period ended Dec. 31, 2003 were $55.1 million, a 13% increase over revenues of $48.6 million for the comparable period of fiscal 2003. License revenues represented approximately 53%, and service revenues 47%, of the total gross revenue for the quarter ended Dec. 31, 2003.

The pro forma net loss was $1.8 million, or $0.08 per share on a basic and diluted share basis for the quarter ended Dec. 31, 2003. The company had a pro forma net loss of $6.6 million, or $0.30 per share on a basic and diluted share basis for the nine months ended Dec. 31, 2003. On a Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (GAAP) basis, the net loss for the quarter ended Dec. 31, 2003 was $1.9 million, or $0.09 per share on a basic and diluted share basis. The GAAP net loss for the nine months ended Dec. 31, 2003 was $10.1 million, or $0.46 per share on a basic and diluted share basis.

Stellent believes the pro forma results better reflect its operating performance as they exclude the effects of non-cash or non-recurring charges related primarily to expenses such as amortization of certain intangible assets and non-recurring income.

Stellent continued upon its path of generating quarterly and year-over-year growth during the third quarter, making significant progress towards reaching profitability, said Robert Olson, president and chief executive officer for Stellent. We met our previous guidance for revenue and earnings per share, and increased our strong cash and marketable securities position to approximately $73.3 million.

During the third quarter, we signed 39 new customer accounts, including Stellent® Universal Content Management customers Los Angeles Times, Danbury Health Systems, ING Mexico, Sony Europe, the Society of Women Engineers and Anthem East. Additionally, existing customers, such as Cargill, H.B. Fuller, Ameren, The Wellcome Trust, Arch Coal and Ecolab, continued to extend Stellent implementations across their enterprises.

Many customers within our top vertical markets also expanded their Stellent rollouts. In the government market, organizations such as the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey, Crawley Borough Council, Pueblo County and Republique Et Canton Du Jura purchased additional Stellent software. Similarly, health care and insurance customers, including Children's Hospitals and Clinics and Premera Blue Cross, expanded their Stellent deployments. In addition, our Content Components Division signed or renewed contracts with companies including Novell, Google, Thales, Fast Search & Transfer and Lockheed Martin.

We continued to experience success with our Stellent® Sarbanes-Oxley Solution during the quarter, with customers such as Arch Coal selecting the solution to meet their compliance needs. And we continue to see companies increasingly recognize content management's valuable role in managing the tremendous amounts of documentation and business processes involved in meeting government mandates.

Also during the quarter, Stellent Universal Content Management 7.0, released in September, was a popular purchase among new and existing customers, with companies such as First Industrial Realty Trust and Caremark buying or upgrading to the new product suite.

Our partner activities remained strong both domestically and abroad. We worked with Hitachi Consulting to close the transaction with Emerson's Daniel Division, and we partnered with IBM to expand the Stellent implementation at BlueCross BlueShield of Florida. We also expanded our network of partners and system integrators in Japan by signing agreements with NS Solutions, Nippon Telematique and Central Information Systems.

As we enter the last quarter of our fiscal year, Stellent is well positioned to capitalize on the ever-growing enterprise content management (ECM) market, which META Group predicts will reach $9 billion by 2007. We expect to further strengthen both our financial and market position through the acquisition of Optika®, a leading provider of imaging, workflow, collaboration, business process management and records management software, which we announced earlier this month. This merger will allow us to provide the most complete ECM solution on the market.

We believe our combined product suite will drive a new standard in the content management industry while enabling us to expand rollouts across our existing customer bases and secure new customers who demand broader ECM solutions. In addition, the combination of our Universal Content Management suite focused on consumption-oriented and collaborative content with Optika's family of transaction-oriented ECM products will provide a cost-effective, comprehensive solution set that clearly surpasses the expensive, cumbersome solutions offered by other vendors. When you add our world-class team of employees and partners to this mix, Stellent clearly is poised to grow our business and capture additional market share in the coming year.

Other Recent Highlights

Customers

Stellent now has 2,104 total customers comprised of 1,167 corporate content management customers; 427 OEM customers; and 510 corporate customers for its desktop viewing and conversion technology.

Corporate News

In January, Stellent signed a definitive merger agreement to acquire all outstanding shares of Optika® Inc. for $10 million in cash, approximately 4.1 million shares of Stellent common stock and the assumption by Stellent of Optika's outstanding options. The merger with Optika will strengthen and expand Stellent's document imaging, business process management and compliance capabilities.

Stellent customer Allina Hospitals & Clinics, a health care organization managing 14 hospitals and 42 clinics in Minnesota and western Wisconsin, received an eHealthcare Leadership Award for its Allina Knowledge Network powered by Stellent Content Management.

In October, Stellent hosted its first global users conference, Crescendo 2003, in Orlando, Fla. The successful event assembled a diverse group of more than 400 Stellent customers, partners, employees and industry leaders for a highly educational, interactive four-day conference where Stellent showcased its recently released Stellent Universal Content Management 7.0.

In November, Stellent hosted a series of seminars in six U.S. cities for senior financial and IT professionals to demonstrate how a content management infrastructure helps public companies efficiently meet Sarbanes-Oxley (including Section 404 compliance) and other financial and non-financial disclosure requirements.

EContent named Stellent one of the top 100 companies in digital content in its EContent 100 a list of companies that matter most in the digital content industry published in the magazine's December 2003 issue. This is the third year EContent has published the list and the third time Stellent was included.

Stellent was named one of the world's largest software providers for the fifth consecutive year by Software Magazine. The publication featured Stellent in its 21st annual Software 500, a list of the world's foremost software and service providers. Stellent is ranked number 228, based on fiscal year 2002 software and services revenue.

Products

Transform magazine named Stellent Universal Content Management 7.0 a Product of the Year finalist. The product was selected as one of only 24 finalists from among the hundreds of content and collaboration products and upgrades introduced in 2003.

Stellent announced an integration between the Stellent Content Management system and the award-winning XML authoring platform, Corel® XMetaL®. The product integration expands Stellent's existing strong XML functionality to meet increasing customer demand for the ability to create content using XML authoring tools and store it directly in a content management system.
